All through a week of sunny weather, combines were at work in Randall County wheat fields. Harvesting is now about 60 to 65 percent completed and should be finished next week. The high yields are more than double the county average, with dryland wheat yielding 20 to 25 bushels per acre and irrigated wheat 35 to 50 bushels per acre. This indicates that the total county yield may pass two and one-fourth million bushels.

Wheat Yield Doubles Average As Harvest Nears Completion

Wheat harvesting in Randall County is approximately 60 to 65 percent completed, according to John Brazzil, county agriculture agent. Since yields are averaging very high, Brazzil estimates that over one and one-fourth million bushels have been harvested so far.

Most of the dryland wheat will be harvested by Saturday night, Brazzil said Tuesday, but some irrigated wheat is not quite mature. Harvesting will continue on into next week.

Farmers have been "pleasantly surprised" by the yield of their wheat crops, Brazzil said. Dryland wheat has been averaging from 20 to 25 bushels per acre, which is more than twice the county average. Although much of the irrigated wheat has not yet been cut, it is averaging from 35 to 50 bushels per acre.

Since the county has 118,000 acres of dryland and irrigated wheat, Brazzil expects the total to pass two and one-fourth million bushels.

The crop is not only large, but also of excellent quality, according to Brazzil. The test weight is averaging 60 to 63 pounds per bushel, which means that the wheat is "extra plump and heavy." Brazzil said there was no noticeable damage to the wheat by the weather.

"The farmers are real happy," Brazzil said, "since they never thought they would reach this yield." This year's crop promises to be one of the best ever in the county. There have been bigger crops, however, in years when more acreage was planted in wheat.

Wheat is coming in almost faster than the elevators can handle it. Some has had to be stacked on the ground due to the shortage of railroad cars, Brazzil said, but this will only be for a short time.

Farmers are also very busy now. "Everybody big enough" is helping harvest the wheat, plow the stubble, and get ready to plant grain sorghum.

"We are getting a little behind and we are a little short of labor, especially tractor drivers. This labor situation is only spotty, though, and won't last," Brazzil said.

Grain sorghum is about 50 to 75 percent planted, according to the county agent. "We like to get our grain sorghum in by July 1," Brazzil said, "so we aren't late yet."

The grain sorghum is going in in "real good shape," he reports.

Center Group Discusses Summer 'Y' Program

The possibility of establishing a summer recreation program in Canyon was seriously discussed by the Community Center planning council in a meeting in the commissioners' courtroom in Randall County courthouse last night. No decision was reached.

Further discussion by the executive board of the center group is scheduled for noon today, when they will meet with Amarillo YMCA officials.

Under the proposal, a summer program would be established in Canyon as an extension of the Amarillo YMCA in an effort to test the town's ability to support a YMCA. If an extension program is successful, the community center group would consider establishing an independent YMCA.

Co-Ed Activities

All activities would be co-educational.

The extension program could be started for the asking, without a preliminary survey that would be necessary for establishing an independent program under the proposed arrangement.

Built around facilities available, the program would be under the direction of a board of directors chosen by Canyon.

Cost of the program would be raised by the Canyon group, probably through the sale of membership, and Amarillo would assume the responsibility of furnishing a director.

Mrs. Jean Loudder and Mrs. J. D. Barker, who met recently with Amarillo YMCA officials, said the Amarillo group had estimated the cost at around $500.

Less Than $500

It would probably be less than that, since the summer is well under way, Mrs. Loudder said.

No decision was made on the age group to be included, nor was it decided to limit the program to one age group.

Facilities at the Amarillo YMCA would be available to the Canyon group by special arrangements.

Michael Morris, president of the group, suggested a survey to be taken through club representatives to determine community opinion on the project. A survey to be made by the YMCA regional headquarters has been postponed until fall, Mrs. Loudder said.

Mrs. A. B. Gray appeared before the council to suggest a fund raising campaign through the sale of home products.

Wheat Field Fires Dip from '59 Total

Wheat field fires, a major hazard during last year's harvest, has slowed to a snail's pace this year.

Canyon Volunteer Firemen have answered only one call. A fire on the Wayne Danmier farm five miles southeast of Tradewind Airport, drew a unit from Canyon, Fireman Charley Foster said.

Foster said he did not measure the amount of ripe wheat destroyed in the blaze, which started from a truck exhaust, but did not believe it would run 60 acres.

Another fire, this one Saturday on the David Horn farm west of Canyon, was extinguished by neighbors. Insurance adjustors set the burned area at four acres.

Young Fishermen To Vie in Rodeo

Young fishermen will have the chance to test their skill Saturday at the third annual Jaycee Fish Rodeo. Originally scheduled for June 11, the rodeo was postponed because of bad weather.

Everything except the date remains the same. The rodeo will be held at the farm of Doug Rittenberry, located on the Canyon City Club road. Signs will direct contestants to the rodeo site. Cars must enter from this road and must park in the area provided there.

Begins at 1

Fishing will begin at 1 p.m., with judging at 6 p.m. Judges will be Woody Pond, local game warden; Richard Pruett, chairman of the rodeo, and Joe Gidden.

Contestants will be placed in two divisions, those under nine years old and those between nine and 14. No one older than 14 may enter.

Seven prizes will be given in each division. Top prizes are for the largest perch, the largest catfish, and the most fish caught. The other four prizes in each division are for second most fish, third most fish, etc.

Rodeo Rules

Rodeo rules are: 1. Age limit 14 years; 2. Fishermen should not bother cattle nor wander away from the creek; 3. Only worms can be used for bait, and each fisherman must bring his own; 4. Trash must be put in barrels that will be provided; 5. No adult may fish; 6. Any type of rig may be used; 7. All bass must be returned to the water; 8. Each entrant should be accompanied by an adult.

John L. Williams, 2007 First Avenue, will give a bucket of worms to any contestant who comes after them. The Jaycees will find someone to accompany any entrant whose parents are unable to do so.

Jaycees will operate a concession stand with sandwiches and cold drinks.

Neither the Jaycees nor the Rittenberrys will be responsible in case of accidents.

News Captures Top TPA Honors

The Canyon News has been judged the best newspaper in its class in Texas.

Selected by out-of-state newsmen The News was awarded a large engraved plaque for general excellence at a winner's breakfast Saturday morning at the Texas Press Association convention in Houston.

The News won two first places and one second place to rack up 275 points to win the plaque—a reproduction of the front page. Nearest competitor was the Quanah Tribune-Chief, which had one first and one second for 175 points. The Gilmer Mirror was in third place with 115 points on a second and a third place.

The News took top honors in news writing and news pictures and second in column writing.

Judged in the news writing contest was over-all writing in three consecutive issues in May, 1959, and the story considered as the best locally written article during the year. Submitted was the story of a commissioners' court squabble during the redrawing of county commissioners' precincts.

First place in news pictures was won on a wheat harvest picture and three issues showing quality, use, and number of pictures.

Oscar Griffin's "Reporter at Large" was entered in the column writing contest.

Griffin attended the convention.

The News was entered in Division V—for weekly newspapers published in towns of 3,501 to 6,000 population.

Repair Work Starts In Palo Duro Park

Although Palo Duro State Park was heavily damaged by the flood which swept through the canyon after the Stockton Dam broke the night of June 10, repair work on roads and picnic facilities is well underway.

O. P. Cowart, park manager, reports that the Cottonwood Grove and turn-around areas are again ready for campers, and other areas are being cleared.

Tables Damaged

Mrs. Cowart, wife of the manager, said Thursday that there was not one of the 250 picnic tables in the park that was not damaged, completely destroyed, or covered with dirt and debris. The shower at Cottonwood Grove was completely destroyed, and rest rooms throughout the park were filled with sand, silt, and debris.

The roof of the pavilion near the number one water crossing was also destroyed completely.

"The saddest loss," Mrs. Cowart said, "was the trees. About 80 percent of the cottonwood trees were damaged, and they, of course, can't be replaced. It will take from 50 to 75 years for trees to grow to the size of the ones we had."

The train which takes visitors on a tour of the canyon was not damaged.

Campers Evacuated

Because of the continued heavy rains that week, the creek which runs through the canyon began to rise. The Highway Department worked with the park staff to get picnickers and campers out of the canyon. They were all out by noon on June 10.

About 2 that afternoon, according to Mrs. Cowart, the first water began to spill over the top of Stockton Dam. It took two hours and 20 minutes for this water to get to the park. Then about 7:30 that night the dam broke.

It took only 30 minutes for this water to reach the park.

The flood which rushed through the canyon was from 25 to 35 feet deep and from 100 to 200 yards wide.

William Collins, executive secretary of the Texas State Parks, came to Palo Duro June 13. He told the park staff to hire the help they needed to get the park cleaned up as soon as possible.

Tables, Cans Replaced

Collins ordered picnic tables and garbage cans designated for other

All of the 250 picnic tables in Palo Duro State Park were either damaged, completely destroyed, or covered with sand and debris by the flood through the canyon after the collapse of the Stockton Dam the night of June 10. The executive secretary of the Texas State Parks, William Collins, has ordered new tables for the park. A crew of about 15 has been added to the park staff to clean up and repair the picnic and camping areas and the roads leading to them.

There's always plenty of excitement and action when Canyon's young baseball players take to the diamonds in Conner Park. In this game the Cardinals ran away from the White Sox, 22-5. In the Babe Ruth League games are played every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday nights at 7:30. In the Little League, minor league games are at 5:30 and major league games at 7:30 on the same nights.

CITY BASEBALL

Few Close Ball Games Played In Last Week's League Action

Baseball league action last week saw few really close games, most of them being won by margins from four to 17.

Babe Ruth League

In the Babe Ruth League on Monday night, the Cardinals beat the Pirates 18-7. Burgess, the winning pitcher, pitched the entire game. De Schweinitz, starting pitcher for the Pirates, was replaced by Jennings in the second inning.

On Tuesday night the Pirates whipped the Giants, 13-6. Dorris was the winning pitcher, and Breitling the losing pitcher.

The Cardinals stomped the White Sox, 22-5, Thursday night. Price pitched the Cardinals to victory, and Hicks was the losing pitcher.

Saturday night the White Sox defeated the Pirates, 20-10. Lisle pitched the entire game for the White Sox. Moore, Butler, and de Schweinitz pitched for the Pirates.

Little League

In the eight-year-old games in the Little League, the Senators trounced the Red Sox, 17-8; the Senators whipped the Orioles, 12-8; the Senators again beat the Orioles, 10-6; the Red Sox defeated the Orioles, 7-5, and the Orioles downed the Senators, 9-8.

Scores for the majors and minors of the Little League were not available.

Canyon Teachers Given $100 Raise

A $100 a year raise in salary was granted to teachers in the Canyon Public Schools by the Canyon Board of Education Tuesday night. This increase brings the local school salary scale to $400 above the state minimum salary level.

Beginning teachers with bachelor degrees will draw $3604 per year in the Canyon schools. The $400 above state level is the average amount paid teachers in schools the size of those in Canyon. The $100 a year raise will cost the district about $6,000.

In other action the trustees approved the purchase of a 48-passenger school bus to be delivered before the opening of school thsi fall.

Members of the equalization board to serve for the coming year were appointed. They are Marion

Virginia Friemel Wins Bake Show

Virginia Friemel captured another 4-H Club honor when she won the county Bake Show, held Monday in the Farm Bureau building.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Friemel of Umbarger, Virginia rolled up more points on her batter cake and sweet rolls than other contestants.

In second place was Linda Kay Metcalf, last year's winner, and Cindy Gruner was in third place. Linda Kay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Metcalf and Cindy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Gruner.

Virginia will compete in the Tri-State Fair Bake Show in September.

Displayed in a window at The Canyon News office are awards won by the paper at the Texas Press Association convention in Houston last week. Copper plaques from left are first, news writing; first, general excellence; and first, news pictures. The certificate is for second place in column writing.

Flab and the People

If one were to search the dictionary for a single word which best described the men and women who built our nation, we think that perhaps they might choose the word "strength."

Our forefathers had strength of mind, strength of character, and strength of spirit. They refused to knuckle under the domination of colonial powers. They stoutly abstained from compromise on all principles of human freedom. They had strong backs to carve from a wilderness of trees, rocks, streams, mountains, and deserts the greatest political and economic organization ever assembled by the hands of man.

Now, if you were asked to choose a single word which would best describe the man and woman of America today, what would that word be? Our choice is, and we do not say this proudly, "flab."

Americans have grown flabby in three vital spots. These are:

Moral Flabbiness. The morality of early day Americans, which was built upon the bedrock of Christian principles, has been replaced by a slipshod collection of rules for behavior which spring from experience rather than from ideals and convictions.

Today a man is not so much governed by what he considers the right or wrong so much as he is governed by the rules which may be set forth in "company policy," or "professional ethics."

Whereas an American used to be proud of the claim that his word was as good as his bond, today we find that a man is taken for a sucker if he ever makes any type of agreement with any other person without first having it in writing and then making sure that the contract is iron clad.

In the way that we live, we are more concerned in finding out the things that we can do and "get away with it" than we are about the rightness or wrongness of these acts.

Mental Flabbiness: Original individual thought used to be one of the hallmarks of American culture. In the not too far distant past, citizens used to pride themselves in being able to think through their own solutions and to not find it necessary to depend upon others to do their thinking for them.

This did not mean that Americans were above taking advice, but it did mean that they didn't want anyone else running their business. Today we allow others to motivate our own ideas when we fail to use our own thought processes.

Admittedly, it does take a lot of effort just to think, but it is the most important single thing that a man can do. If a man does not think for himself, then there will be someone who will think for him, and this is the most insidious system that is possible.

The result is that today instead of using our brains for clearing houses for creative thinking, we are using them as recreation rooms. We are throwing open our minds to entertainment rather than information. Entertainment never stimuates. It is a thought depressant.

Physical Flabbiness: Even with the greatest standard of living in the world, and dietary privileges that permit the typical American to consume almost anything that he chooses, American men and women are among the world's most "rundown" peoples, physically speaking.

Needless to say, our poor physical condition is not the result of overwork; nor is it the result of insufficient exercise. We are physically flabby because we lack self-control. We lack the will to improve ourselves, and we lack a challenge.

The California idea that a lot of hair on a man's head was more to be desired than a lot of hair on his chest is symbolic of our lethargy toward physical fitness.

If America has gone from strength to flab in the span of only two generations, then what will the next development be?

Growing Field?

There is a growing group of professional anti-communists who make a pretty good living selling their wares, and all have really nothing to offer except a magazine or newsletter of some kind.

We had two such visitors in the office last week and while it was perhaps coincidence, we had the feeling that the anti-communist field is getting overcrowded. The first fellow called us into our office, shut the door, and in deep secrecy showed us his credentials, consisting of a printed identification card. Said he had our name referred to him as a defender of the faith, a foe of subversives, and a man who believed in doing the right thing.

The right thing, in this case, consisted of slipping our visitor and his organization a paltry $15 per month to carry on the work. When we asked what work, he pointed out that his group mailed out circulars by the bale, had the teachers and preachers on their mailing list, and men like him worked tirelessly covering the country recruiting members for the cause, at $15 per month up.

He said we had no idea how close we were to going under to communism. Said there was actually a red cell right in Borger, which is mighty close to Perryton and we had better get alarmed about it. Said his organization needed lots of money to carry on the fight.

We never could close in on him when it got down to specifics. Of course his information was classified. All he wanted was to get the money and be on to the next recruit. Seemed downright hurt and disappointed when we declined to join up. We apologized for taking up his time.

The other anti-communist was selling much along the same line. Said he would see that the teachers got a copy of his magazine every month and we never could figure out why the teachers got such close scrutiny. Anyway, we disappointed No. 2 as much as No. 1.

We were so impressed by No. 1 that we followed him down across the street from the Perryton Hotel and saw him get into a new blue Cadillac and pull away from the curb. Since all windows were rolled up and it was a hot day, we deduced that the Caddy was air-conditioned. The other fellow got away before we learned his mode of transportation.

We decided that our non-air-conditioned 1957 Chevrolet looked mighty poor in comparison to our visitor's car, and he was right in that it probably does take a lot of money to keep the anti-Communist battle going.

You would be surprised how many visitors Perryton merchants get during the course of the year who want to get into the cash register. There is nothing fraudulent about these projects, but we are convinced that the main idea is to make money for the promoters.

A few months ago we had a visitor who represented himself as agent for an organization for the blind. Said his group provided Braille books and phonograph records for the 17 blind persons in Perryton.

This was amazing to us. We asked if we could have the names and addresses of these 17 people so that we could do a feature story in the Herald about the fine work his group was doing. He was sorry, but he couldn't release it. We asked him for a few names, but nothing doing. We asked for just one name and still nothing doing, and our interview was cut short by the visitor who remembered he had other pressing business.

Until we learn otherwise, we don't believe there are 17 blind persons in Perryton who need this kind of help.

Paul Crume in The Dallas Morning News: W. W. Whaley has been driving a cab for 30 years and he hasn't seen everything even yet.

He answered a call on Highland Drive this week. As he stopped in front of the house, a woman came out and set down a small white cotton bag on the porch and went back inside. Whaley got the bag and put it in the trunk of the cab.

A moment later the woman appeared at the door carrying a baby and shepherding a small boy about six years old. She said they wanted to go to the Palace Theater.

Whaley drove them there. While she was getting together the money to pay him, he unlocked the trunk and handed her the small bag.

"What is this?" exclaimed the woman. "My God I put this out for Tidy-Didy."

Whaley took down her name and looked up the address of the firm that deals in laundering diapers. He delivered.

McKinley First Supports Silver, Then Advocates Gold Standard

By BOYCE HOUSE

William Jennings Bryan, in his presidential race of 1896, was denounced for his advocacy of "free silver" but, oddly enough, his position was little different from that which his successful opponent, William McKinley, had held not long before.

McKinley's reversal is amusingly depicted in Oscar Ameringer's "If You Don't Weaken" (Henry Holt and Company). As a member of the band which welcomed the delegations who came to Canton, Ohio, to pledge their support to the Republican candidate, Ameringer heard the speeches which McKinley made in his "front porch" campaign.

On each occasion, the advocate of the gold standard would produce a silver dollar from his Prince Albert coat and say, "My fellow citizens, the opposition will tell you that this silver dollar represents 100 cents of American currency. Yet the same amount of silver contained in this dollar I hold in my hand will only purchase 53 cents' worth of merchandise in our sister republic across the Rio Grande."

The observer said that he knew that silver dollar well, because, a few years before, he had seen McKinley produce it, or one like it, during a speech on the courthouse steps in Circleville. At that time, the speaker was running for governor and his declaration then was, "The opposition will tell you that the silver I am holding in my hand is worth only 53 cents. But I challenge any of my intelligent audience to walk into any store in the city and convince himself that this silver dollar will purchase one cent less than 100 cents' worth of goods."

McKinley's switch was even more amusingly brought out in a story in Louis Brownlow's "A Passion for Politics" (University of Chicago Press). The author, himself a Democrat, had a cousin, Walter Brownlow, who was named as Tennessee's representative on the Republican National Committee in 1896. Someone protested to Mark Hanna, McKinley's campaign manager, that Brownlow was not for the gold standard but, on the contrary, had won the Republican Congressional nomination that very year on a free silver platform, and therefore should be removed from the national committee.

Hanna wrote to Brownlow, inquiring about the matter. Here is his reply, in dialect which would have done credit to the pen of Artemus Ward or Petroleum V. Nasby:

"Dear Mr. Hanna, I done got your letter. It is so that I made some speeches only this here past spring when I was a-runnin' for the Republican nomination for Congress. I hadn't never run for no office before, and I hadn't never made no speech. I knowed I didn't have sense enough to git me up a speech so I just thought I'd git a speech some other feller had made and git it by heart and just say it.

"I happened to pick up a speech made by a feller by the name of McKinley to the Stark County, Ohio, Farmers' Alliance a couple of years or so back.

"I aim to be mighty busy in this here campaign, but if Mc flops agin, just wire me. Yours truly, Walter Preston Brownlow."

LIPSTICK LOGIC

BY LOUISE ALLEN

Hero worship is rare these days. That's why the small boy and the soldier attracted our attention.

They were striding down this quiet street in the middle of the afternoon, side by side. The soldier, a tall young second lieutenant, was perhaps unconsciously on parade — eyes straight ahead, shoulders back, long measured steps in perfect rhythm. The boy of about 11 was alternately watching his idol's feet, trying to imitate the gait, and looking up at his face in honest adoration.

What with steps too long for his short legs, and being thrown off balance by his own shifting gaze, he reminded one more of a happy puppy than the disciplined marcher he imagined himself.

We see the worshipful look sometimes on the face of a small boy with his father, tinkering with a car or working in the yard; less often when a little girl watches her mother make a cake or dress for a party. But the right kind of hero worship, for a public ideal, seems to have been displaced by a debunking attitude, one that assumes nobody is quite as good as he appears.

Old-fashioned hero worship is wholesome. It challenges the admirer to reach beyond his own abilities toward a new goal. It lifts him out of the humdrum of today toward a future he can dream about.

Whether Hollywood scandals, muckraking novels and newspapers or the obsession with money and what it buys have changed this we can't say. But something has deprived American boys and girls of an important heritage. Can't we give it back to them?

Rumor mongers might appropriately be termed misfortune tellers.

GOLDEN ACRES

1. Taylor-Evans was one of the first companies to treat grain sorghum on a large scale.
2. Taylor-Evans Seed Co. was the first to double treat hybrids and milos on a commercial basis. Now practically all hybrids are double treated for worms and smut.
3. Now this year another first for Golden Acres! We have added the triple treatment—LIQUID FERTILIZER—to increase seedling vigor. All Golden Acres Hybrids are now treated with fertilizer.

MRS. JACK EDWARD STONE

Sybil Ann Gillis, Jack Edward Stone Married June 11 in Dallas Church

The Wynne Chapel of Highland Park Presbyterian Church in Dallas was the scene of the wedding uniting Sybil Ann Gillis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Allison Gillis of Canyon, and Jack Edward Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stone of Fort Worth.

Rev. Edward A. Mohns, pastor, officiated at the ceremony, read at 12 noon June 11. Sam R. Parker provided nuptial music.

The bride was attired in a gown of white Chantilly lace over cream cafe taffeta, styled with a molded bodice fashioned with a squared decollete neckline and three-quarter length lace sleeves. The full gathered waltz length skirt was enhanced by scalloped hemline.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis, and a white orchid.

A reception followed in the Dallas home of the bride.

A graduate of West Texas State College, the bride was a member of Pi Omega sorority, Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic society, Alpha Psi Omega, honorary speech group, and "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

The bridegroom is a graduate of North Texas State College, where he was a member of Phi Mu Alpha honorary music organization. He has studied at the Paris Conservatory of Music.

The couple will make their home in Dallas.

Bridge Club Meets With Mrs. Crain

The 1925 Bridge Club met recently with Mrs. Newton Crain.

Mrs. Crain served a dessert course and iced tea and used summer flowers for decoration.

Guests were Mrs. Hatcher Brown, Mrs. R. C. Busteed, Mrs. Herschel Coffee, Mrs. T. V. Crounse, Mrs. J. M. Daugherty, Mrs. Glenn Dowlen, Mrs. L. L. Jones, Mrs. A. K. Knott, Mrs. Iverson Leake, Mrs. Ray McReynolds, Mrs. Milton Morris, Mrs. A. H. Prichard, Mrs. Cecil Simms, and Mrs. John A. Williams.

Mrs. R. P. Jarrett, Jr., and Mrs. Hosea Foster were guests of the club.

Enrollment Deadline Set For Music Camp

Enrollment deadline for the eighth annual West Texas Music Camp at West Texas State College has been set for July 1, according to Dr. Ted J. Crager, director of the camp.

Featuring intensive instruction in voice and choir, instruments and bands, and twirling, the camp will be held July 31 through August 12, on the WT campus. The music camp usually attracts more than 350 junior and senior high school musicians from the Tri-State area.

Conducting the camp's top bands, Symphonic and Concert, will be James Matthews, director of bands at the University of Houston, and James A. Jacobsen, Texas Christian University band director. J. W. King, Jr., of Hale Center, will return to conduct the junior high band. Bill Woods, band director at Seagraves, will for the second year be chief twirling instructor.

Conductor of the music camp choir will be Dr. Warner Imig, dean of the College of Music at the University of Colorado. He will be assisted in choral and voice instruction by Dr. Houston Bright, WT professor of music and A Cappella Choir director, and Royal Brantley, assistant professor of music. Also assisting with camp instruction will be Rowie Durden and Donald Haddad, assistant band directors at WT.

Other area band directors who will assist in camp instruction are G. T. Gilligan of Kermit, Richard Cole of San Antonio, Fred Ormand of Amarillo College, Rex Shelton of Borger, Gerald Hemphill of Phillips University, Dr. Joe Haddon of Midland, D. W. Crain, Jr., of Abernathy, and Paul Lovett of Lubbock.

Variety Ring Meets With Mrs. Johnson

Roll call was answered with Memorial Day activities when the Variety Ring met last Friday in the home of Mrs. Mae Johnson.

Mrs. K. E. Hines was in charge of the program, and secret pal gifts were exchanged.

Present were a guest, Joyce Barker, and members Mrs. George Barker, Mrs. Leslie Neal, Mrs. P. L. Pitt, Mrs. Estelle Rice, Mrs. Leonard Winters, Mrs. Lang Hunter, Mrs. Hines, Mrs. J. L. Hammons, Mrs. Earl Burtz, Mrs. Win Matsler, Mrs. Levi Cole, and Mrs. Johnson.

These dogs are taking advantage of a new business just started in Canyon, the Palo Duro Kennels. Managed by A. C. Higgins, the kennels are located three miles east of town on the Palo Duro Canyon highway. The dogs stay in the roomy, fireproof pens shown above and are exercised in a 750 square foot exercise pen. Dogs of all breeds are given complete care, including grooming twice weekly, according to Higgins.

Fairview Breezes

By MRS. J. W. WESLEY

Harvest is in full swing in our vicinity.

Henry Boyd, of Truth or Consequences, N. M., has been visiting his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wesley, the past few days.

Mrs. Orene Rogers died Thursday in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo. She spent most of her life in our community. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wesley.

Arlen Wesley visited Monday night with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wesley.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bargo of Ft. Hood visited over the weekend with the Shipmans.

Nearly 100 Wesleys gathered at the fieldhouse in the Plainview City Park for the 14th annual reunion. It was voted unanimously to retain the same place for another year, and the third Saturday and Sunday in June will be the time.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Northan of Lubbock are parents of a daughter born June 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Wesley are vacationing in the mountains of New Mexico at Tres Ritos.

All Children But One Visit P. M. Wilsons

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Wilson had all of their children except one, Perry Wilson, as guests in their home all week.

Those present for Sunday dinner were Mrs. Bert Kennison and her family, Long Beach, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. E. B. Essing, Johnnie and Mary Lynn, Camp Edward, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clark, Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Olie Ford, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Tige Groves, Rue Paula and Susie, Stinnett; their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Groves and Jo Angela, Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson, Amarillo; and Mr. and Mrs. Hamill Wilson, Wayne Hawkins and Warren, Pampa.

Belinda Brittain, Stinnett, was a guest of Susie Groves.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH O. WALDROP

Webb, Waldrop Nuptial Vows Read In Borger Church of Christ May 28

Miss Barbara Joy Webb of Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Webb of Phillips, became the bride of Keith O. Waldrop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Waldrop, 207 14th Street, in a ceremony in the Second and Deahl Church of Christ in Borger.

Don Willingham, minister, officiated at the single ring service at 7 p.m. May 28.

Large candelabra entwined with white gladioli and flanked on each side by baskets of white gladioli decorated the altar.

Nuptial Music

Nuptial music was furnished by a choral group. Soloists were Leon Dowell, who sang "I Love You Truly" and Mrs. Don Willingham, who sang "Because."

Mrs. James Robinson of Old Glory, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a street length bone colored dress of polished cotton with a sh.rred cummerbund and straight skirt. She chose green accessories and carried a nosegay of green orchids.

Frank White of Borger was best man, and ushers were Hubert Waldrop of Olton and Roy Porter Waldrop of Canyon, brothers of the bridegroom.

Bride's Gown

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white street length dress of white silk organza over satin, styled with a round neckline, short sleeves, and a bouffant skirt. Her shoulder-length veil of French illusion fell from a head band of sequins and pearls. A string of white pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, completed her outfit.

The bride's mother wore a dress of light green silk, with bone and green accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a light blue silk with beige accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception followed.

Laid in White

The bride's serving table was laid with a white crocheted tablecloth, belonging to the bride's grandmother, over green. A three-tiered, diamond shaped wedding cake centered the table.

Assisting in the reception were Mrs. Hubert Waldrop of Olton, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Mrs. Bill Clements of Wolfford, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Don Schmidt of Amarillo, sister of the bridegroom.

For the wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the bride chose a green floral silk dress with bone and brown accessories.

The couple will live at 119 E. Adams in Borger. Mrs. Waldrop attended Frank Phillips Junior College and is an IBM operator at Huber Gas and Oil Company. Mr. Waldrop received his degree at West Texas State College. He is an accountant for Huber Gas and Oil Company.

Rogers Services Held Friday

Services in the memory of Mrs. Orene Rogers, 46, were held at 3 p.m. Friday in the Wayside Church. Officiating were Rev. Earl Landtroop of Clovis and Rev. Charles Pierce of Pampa.

Mrs. Rogers, a former resident of Canyon, is the mother of Wiley James Rogers of Canyon.

Burial was in the Wayside Cemetery under the direction of La-Grone Funeral Chapel.

Mrs. Rogers died at 5 a.m. Thursday in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo where she was a patient.

A native of Bandera, Mrs. Rogers was born February 5, 1914, and had been a resident of Amarillo about two years. She was employed as a bookkeeper at a downtown jewelry store.

Besides her son, survivors are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wesley of Happy; five brothers, Darrell Wesley and Wayne Wesley, both of Levelland, Charles Wesley of Happy, Delbert Wesley of Tulia, and Kenton Wesley of Wichita Falls, and one grandson.

Coke Party Honors Mrs. Holt's Guests

A Coke party in the A. B. Holt home June 10 honored Mrs. Holt's house guests, Miss Ocoee Johnson of Oxford, Miss., and Miss Sarah Ragle of Vernon.

Cook Announces Calendar of Events For NSF Summer Institute at WT

Dr. H. L. Cook, director of the National Science Foundation Summer Institute at West Texas State College, has announced a calendar of events for the institute.

Upcoming events will include an exhibit of progress through science and lectures by nationally recognized scientists.

Missile Systems to Be Shown

The "Preview of Progress," presented by General Motors, will be held from 9:50 to 10:20 a.m. June 28 in the Branding Iron Theatre in the Fine Arts Building. The inertial guidance system for guided missiles and the manufacture of rubber will be among things displayed.

"Some Trends in Modern Computers" will be the topic of Dr. Vincent Neisius. His lecture will be given at 8 p.m. June 28 in the recital room, on the second floor of the Fine Arts Building.

Dr. Lawrence S. Dillion, professor at Texas A&M College at College Station, will lecture on either "The Australian Higher Education System" or "The Evolutionary History of Mammals Native to Australia." The Fine Arts Building recital room will be the site, and 8 p.m. July 5 is the time.

The recital room also will be the scene of a lecture by Jacob W. Shapiro, director of the Joe Berg Foundation for the Achievement of Science, on "A Program for the Development of the Gifted Child." Date will be July 20 at 8 p.m.

Ley to Be Speaker

Dr. Willie Ley, noted rocket scientist and physicist, will speak on "The Conquest of Space," in the auditorium of the Fine Arts Building at 8 p.m. July 22.

Two lectures will be given by Dr. J. W. Barker, professor of chemistry at Wittenberg University at Springfield, Ohio. The first, set for 8 p.m. July 26, will be on "The Use of Science in Crime Detection," and the second, scheduled for 8 p.m. July 28, will be "Demonstrations with Liquid Air." Both will be given in the science lecture room on the second floor of the Science Building.

Dr. Frank Verbrugge, professor of physics at the University of Minnesota, will speak on some aspects of modern physics at 8 p.m. August 11 in the science lecture room.

McCarley, Parker Rites Read in Happy

Nuptial vows were read for Miss Peggy McCarley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. McCarley of Lefors, and Gene Parker, son of Mrs. John Parker of Happy and the late Mr. Parker, in the Lefors Methodist Church recently.

Rev. C. P. McMaster officiated.

Mrs. Parker has attended West Texas State College and is now employed by the American Quarter Horse Association in Amarillo. Mr. Parker, a graduate of Happy High School, is a senior at WT.

Ronald Wallen Joins Brothers On Junior Staff at Boys Ranch

When Ronald Wallen, formerly of Canyon, received the highest honor any youngster can attain at Cal Farley's nationally-famous Boys Ranch at Tascosa, another "first" in the 21-year history of the ranch was established.

Ronald was appointed a member of the Junior Staff, joining his two brothers, Donald and Bobby, who also are members of the small group of young men who serve in positions of responsibility and authority.

Ronald, Donald, and Bobby are the only three boys of the same family ever to become members of the Junior Staff at the same time. Considering the hundreds of brothers who have lived at the ranch in the past and the 37 sets among the boys making their homes there now, this is a remarkable achievement.

Appointment to the Junior Staff does not come easy to any Boys Rancher and the members are carefully chosen for their leadership ability, outstanding endeavor, and loyalty. They are selected from among the 261 boys from all over the nation living at the ranch at the present time.

Junior Staff membership was a goal for the Wallen boys previously instituted by their older brother, Eddy, another leader of boys who graduated from the ranch last year.

Determined to follow the examples set by Eddy, the other Wallen boys worked hard to reach their goal. In addition to his Junior Staff appointment, this week, Ronald also was named winner of the Ruth Gentry Bush Award for outstanding citizenship.

Last year he was valedictorian of his eighth grade graduating class. Donald showed proficiency with the ranch livestock program and is a fine horseman who is a member of the Mounted Honor Patrol, representing Boys Ranch at rodeos, parades, and other community celebrations in the area.

Bobby is an outstanding sportsman who excels in the ranch's year-round athletic program, winning honors in wrestling and track. In all competition the Wallen brothers participate with the diligence and enthusiasm that qualify them for membership in the Junior Staff.

As members of this important group of boys, they work closely with the adult staff, formulating policies and programs that insure the success of Boys Ranch.

They also work with the other boys and this covers just about every chore from washing the ears of a five-year-old to helping a teenager with his geometry.

Of equal importance is the welcome extended by the Junior Staff to the new boys, helping them adjust to their new home and giving them the encouragement they sometimes need to become members of their new "family." And this is only a part of the responsibilities shared by the little group of young men to which Ronald, Donald, and Bobby Wallen belong.

Ranch founder Cal Farley stated, "Without our Junior Staff, I doubt that Boys Ranch would be running as well as it is today."

A party, at which champagne is to be served, is discussed by the Olwell family in "Apron Strings," a comedy to be staged in intimate theater style Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights in the little Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State College. Mr. and Mrs. Olwell are played by Marilyn Legg of Amarillo, left, and Ed McPherson, right, of Masterson. Barbara, center, is played by Jan Adair of Canyon. Director is William A. Moore, and curtain time each night is 8:15 p.m.

Play To Be Given In the Round at WT

A light, merry comedy, "Apron Strings," will be presented in the round in the little Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State College June 23-25 as the second offering of the summer season by the Palo Duro Players.

Directed by William A. Moore, the production features a cast of seven. Curtain time for the three-night run will be 8:15, and admission will be the same for all summer shows, $1 for adults and 50 cents for high school students and children.

When "Apron Strings" ran on Broadway, it received excellent notices from critics of such powerful newspapers as the New York Times and Herald-Tribune.

Cast Named

Appearing in the show are Ed McPherson of Masterson as the father, John Olwell; Marilyn Legg of Amarillo as the mother, Mrs. Olwell; Archie Cain of Dalhart as Hester, the housekeeper; Bonnie Scott of Amarillo as Inez Wakefield; Jan Adair of Canyon as the daughter, Barbara Olwell; Bill Smith of Dimmitt as Ezra Hunniwell, a lawyer; and Gary Wyatt of Dimmitt as Daniel Curtis, who has been tied to mamma's "apron strings."

Daniel Curtis is the son of Pansy Pomeroy, the "Dear Abby" of her day. When she found she had an incurable disease, she left her son a series of letters which her lawyer was to give to him as he grew up.

Fit Any Situation

The series of letters ran in this manner: "To my son when he graduates from high school," "to my son when he becomes engaged." The letters fit just about any situation the young man might find himself involved in.

With the passage of 20 years, however, the letters' advice becomes dated, and the comic situations arise from the fact that people just don't react in the manner Pansy prophesies.

The set for the intimate theater show has been designed by Erin Wertenberger of Hereford, and lighting will be by McPherson.

Brown's Name Left Off WT Spring Honor Roll

Billy M. Brown, Canyon senior, was one of 18 Canyon students on the spring semester honor roll at West Texas State College. Brown's name was left off the honor list, according to the Registrar's Office at WT.

Brown is an elementary education major and is a member of Alpha Chi, national honor society, Student Education Association, Gamma Theta Upsilon, national geography fraternity, and is vice-president of Kappa Delta Pi, national education fraternity.

parks to be sent to Palo Duro to replace those destroyed or swept away by the flood.

Repair work on the park began June 13. About 15 boys were hired and added to the park staff to clean up the picnic areas and the roads leading to them. The Highway Department is repairing the main road through the park.

Power saws were brought in to saw up the wood washed into the park. This wood will be left for picnickers and campers to use.

Campers have continued to come to the park and have been taken care of, Mrs. Cowart said.

DOUBLE GUNN BROS. STAMPS TUESDAY

Not only is there more to see in Texas, but Texas also provides the best avenues to get there.

Texas has more private roads than any state in the Union. Today there are 1,591 miles of superb divided concrete highways.

The total will reach 2,700 by 1975.

Truly, there's more to see in Texas — and you can see it better.

★

Stone houses over 500 years old in Texas?

Yep, in our Texas panhandle.

Nope, they don't build 'em like they used to any more.

These were built by the Pueblo Indians and were discovered in 1907. You can see them today just 18 miles southeast of Perryton.

★

A life-sized statue of Popeye, the sailorman of newspaper cartoon fame, stands at Crystal City, south of Uvalde, in Southwest Texas.

Why is it there?

You guessed it. Crystal City is the spinach capital of the world.

★

Remember reading about the Texas Revolution and the final battle where General Sam Houston and his valiant Texas Army, thundering "Remember the Alamo," defeated the Mexican Army of Santa Anna?

Today this San Jacinto Battleground, just east of Houston, is a beautiful sight to behold.

On this "Battleground of Victory" there now stands the world's tallest stone monument. You can take an elevator up the 570-foot massive, air-conditioned, giant edifice and survey the entire battlefield.

A huge 35-foot, 220-ton "Star of Texas" rests atop the monument. It is as impressive as the majestic state it represents.

★

Scenic, quaint, metropolitan, recreational capital, year 'round weather — these words, true as they are, just don't describe San Antonio adequately.

This historic city has a little of everything.

It's the home of the Alamo and has many old and famous missions.

It's America's Venice, too. You can glide down the San Antonio River that meanders through the city. Your gondola or cycleboat will take you along the same river banks where a quiet Indian village once stood. You'll see beautiful semi-tropical plants and flowers. You can stop off at a sidewalk cafe for an adventure in exotic foods, too.

Better plan a long stay in San Antonio. There's so much to see that you'll never want to leave.

Cotton Farmers Should File Forms

Cotton farmers who have not already filed applications to receive free classing and market information for their 1960 crop have until August 1 to apply for these services.

Applications should be filed with W. K. Palmer, 610 23rd St., Lubbock, Texas.

Palmer is in charge of the Agricultural Marketing Service's area cotton office which includes 37 Panhandle counties and the New Mexico counties of Quay and Roosevelt.

Procedure for preparing and filing applications has been considerably shortened and simplified this season.

"However, promptness in filing is necessary, as time is needed for each group to arrange for submitting samples to the classing office," Palmer said.

Applications and instructions for applying may be obtained from Palmer's office or from John Brazzil, county agricultural agent.

Under the free classing service, organized growers learn the grade and staple of each bale of cotton they produce. Through market news they learn what cotton is selling for. These two services put them in better bargaining position when they sell their cotton.

More than 13.7 million bales of cotton, about 95 percent of the 1959 crop, were classed under the Smith-Doxey program last year. This is the largest proportion classed for any crop since the service became available in 1938.

Brazzil Urges Cautious Use of Chemical Sprays

Randall County farmers should use weed killers, herbicides, and plant regulators with caution and strictly according to label directions, says John Brazzil, county agent.

One of the chemicals now in common use in the county is 2-4-D, which is approved for use on food and feed crops only when no residue remains. Since research has not established the residue period on many crops, users should follow label directions, Brazzil said.

Chemical 2-4-D should not be sprayed on crops such as milo, oats, ensilage for weed control, nor should it be used for weed or brush control on ranges or pastures unless such pastures are deferred from grazing.

Recent regulations from the Food and Drug Administration have caused many past recommendations to be changed.

There may be a lot of sin on exhibition nowadays, but none of it is original.

Washington Report

Curious Pastimes

By Representative Walter Rogers
18th Congressional District

One of the most curious pastimes to emerge in the United States during the past 15 years is a parlor game called "What's Wrong With America." People of all ages and occupations, prompted by the compelling nature of our country's foreign and domestic affairs, indulge almost daily in this simple substitute for Canasta and Scrabble. "What's Wrong With America," which has achieved an almost universal appeal today, is one of the most unprecedented and deadly serious activities developed since World War II.

The object for each player is to outline in some detail his assessment of the "mistakes" America has made and the fearsome future she faces. Two or more players seldom agree and even less seldom achieve any certainty concerning their ideas for a solution. Political disagreement, of course, is as American as the Fourth of July and has lent distinction to our history for more than 180 years.

More Than Disagreement

But "What's Wrong With America" is more than a political disagreement. In many respects it is strictly non-partisan. The recent debate in Congress over the so-called Civil Rights Bill was a clear cut issue, with opponents and supporters. It was discussed almost entirely on its merits or lack of same. But when we begin playing "What's Wrong With America," much of our effort is disjointed and all but lacking in purpose.

The game dies if an agreement should be reached on "what's wrong," just as one of our television Westerns would collapse if the hero ever lost one of those Main Street duels. If anything at all is really wrong with America, it is probably the fact that for the first time in our history public opinion ranges across such a wide field as to inhibit the thoroughgoing, prompt, and effective action that has been our hallmark for so long.

This scattering of public opinion would not be unusual so long as it was directed to specific public issues. But so much of the world is out of step with itself that many who deal with "issues" discover a tremendous growth of ambiguity within the public forum since 1945. In the backwash of momentous technological, economic, diplomatic, and social strides taken since V-J Day, the "issues" have simply not been given the opportunity to settle down into any sort of sharp pattern.

As a result, the world at large has lost a number of extremely important allies. These allies are not geographical entities, but are psychological concepts such as "predictability" in foreign affairs or "clarity" in domestic policies. Much of our time on the international scene is spent on the defensive simply because we are so often incapable of translating Russian action into commonly accepted terms. At home, so much of our life is burgeoning with our efforts to get a grip on the subtle implications of this or that policy that little time remains to seek out a national purpose as a whole and act upon this purpose with dignity, determination, and vitality.

Goals Put Off

The American people, in a majority of cases, have not yet decided what, if anything, is "wrong." And obviously, very little can be done by either government or by individuals to correct the situation when we are vague and inept about basic problems and issues. Countless goals, which almost everyone wishes to pursue, have been "reached" by sweeping them under the rug with a slight change here and there. The goal is thus only put off, not actually reached, and the process strongly suggests the approach to an appealing but illusory mirage in the midst of a great desert. We are not going to sparked our vague search for some-measurably reduce our serious national debt, for example, with a sporadic budgetary surplus now and then. This task will require much more in the way of a carefully planned program accepted and understood by enough citizens to keep it rolling.

A profound gap exists between the political, social, and economic postures which events have forced us to adopt on the one hand and our basic understanding of these postures on the other. This gap, more than anything else, has thing "wrong." I earnestly believe that "What's Wrong With America" can be played with immense profit for each of us as well as our nation. We can struggle to seek out and define our nation's problems with the knowledge that we will eventually succeed in clarifying the forces of the 20th Century. But this must not obscure our search for the understanding which will close the gap in our knowledge and place us, once again, with God's help, on the road to confidence and vitality.

Agent Announces Horn Fly Sprays

John Brazzil, county agent, has announced the latest horn fly control recommendations from the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service.

Brazzil recommends the following formula for horn fly control: To 100 gallons of water, add 3⅛ quarts of toxaphene 60 percent methoxychlor or 16 pounds of 25 percent Korlon wetable powder or 16 pounds of 25 percent wetable powder Co-Ral.

This formula should not be used on milk cows.

Dairy cows may be treated with one heaping tablespoon full of 50 percent wetable methoxychlor per animal.

Both formulas last about three weeks, Brazzil said.

Cattle should not be slaughtered for at least 28 days following application of toxaphene, 45 days for Co-Ral, and 56 days for Korlon. DDT should not be used for dairy or beef cattle, Brazzil said.

Department Provides Training For Children with Bad Hearing

The Texas State Department of Health several years ago, started a program of services for medically indigent children who are severely impaired in hearing.

Those who are eligible are examined medically, and the degree and type of their hearing loss is determined. Many still retain some hearing ability, provided sounds are made loud enough through use of hearing aids.

Under this program, administered by the Division of Maternal and Child Health, the use of such equipment is arranged.

Sounds Identified

For those who have been impaired from birth, or through accident or disease during early childhood, the new sounds which they hear must be identified. Training in listening must be provided.

One of the first steps in this training is the identification of sounds made by objects around them. These include passing cars, barking dogs, closing doors, running water and the voices of people.

Other sounds must be learned through attentive observation and association such as hearing the telephone ring and someone then answering it, or pressing a ring on the steering wheel to sound a horn.

Pre-School Testing Clinics

Pre-school clinics to test hearing and sight and uncover dental defects are in operation in various parts of Texas.

A team of maternal and child health specialists from the State Health Department are available to aid local health departments and communities to set up programs which they can operate independently.

The clinics usually take place in the spring with the help of parent-teacher associations in registering the pre-school children for testing.

When hearing, sight or dental defects are found, the parent is encouraged to have the child examined further and corrections made. Often simple corrective procedures remedy the difficulty.

The uncovering and correction of such defects before a child enters school, permits both child and teacher to devote time and energy to learning and teaching alone.

(A weekly feature of the Public Health Education Division of the Texas State Department of Health.)

Four Local Churches Complete Vacation Bible School Activities

Four Canyon churches have completed their Vacation Bible Schools with more than 500 children participating in the activities. The First Christian Church has scheduled its Bible School for August 22-26.

Calvary Baptist

A commencement program last Wednesday night ended the Bible School at Calvary Baptist Church which had begun June 6. More than 100 of the 111 pupils enrolled attended the program. A picnic was held Thursday for those who attended the required two days to be enrolled.

Rev. Aaron Mann, pastor of the church, was principal, assisted by Mrs. Glenna Reynolds, associate principal and secretary.

Superintendents of departments were Mrs. Russell Thompson, nursery; Mrs. Ray Bible, beginners; Mrs. D. C. Lindley, primary; Mrs. Keith Poole, juniors; and Mrs. W. T. Reynolds, intermediates.

Church of Christ

The Church of Christ Bible School began last Monday and ended with a commencement program Friday night. It was the church's most successful Bible School, according to Bob Wear, minister.

T. F. McKinney directed the school. Workers and their departments were Mrs. S. R. Freeman, Mrs. Walter King, and Mrs. Travis Mulanax, pre-school number one; Mrs. Joe Abbott and Mrs. Metz LaFollette, pre-school number two; Countess McNeill and Judy Roberts, grades one and two.

Mrs. Jim Craig and Mrs. Duane Howard, grades three and four; Camille McNeill and Mrs. Jess Rhodes, grades five and six; and Mrs. Bob Wear, grades seven and eight.

First Baptist

A total of 266 enrolled in the First Baptist Church's Bible School, which began June 6 and ended with a commencement program June 15.

Bob Allford was principal of the school, assisted by Mrs. Cecil Winn. Other general officers were Mrs. Bob Allford, Dr. Strauss Atkinson, Barbara Bacon, Mrs. Paul Lindsey, and O. B. Sanderson.

Department superintendents were Mrs. Faye Cannedy, nursery IV; Mrs. Roger Dugan, nursery V; Mrs. Don Briggs, beginner I; Mrs. Bill Davis, beginner II; Mrs. Roy Lyles, primary I; Mrs. W. J. Wooten, Jr., primary II; Mrs. Arthur Brewer, primary II.

Mrs. Battle Harris, junior I; Mrs. Virgil Henson, junior II; and Mrs. Lewis Hales, intermediate. Mrs. Bruce Gressett, Mrs. J. D. Loudder, and Mrs. Maxie Sanderson kept the nursery babies.

First Methodist

Bible School at the First Methodist Church began June 6 and ended with a program the night of June 15. The school had 109 pupils enrolled and 39 workers.

Mrs. Keith Jones directed the school. Chairmen of departments were Mrs. R. L. Schrib, kindergarten I and II; Mrs. Jack Swatzell, primary I and II; and Mrs. K. E. Hines, juniors.

Mrs. R. W. Waldrop and Miss Ann Warwick kept the nursery. Mrs. Clifford Abbott and Mrs. Bennie Woods were in charge of refreshments.

Jack McCormick Wins Fellowship

Jack McCormick, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. McCormick of Canyon, has received a National Science Foundation co-operative fellowship at Oklahoma State University.

The fellowship, which will pay for the continuation of McCormick's education toward his Ph.D. degree in physical chemistry, is awarded on a basis of competitive examinations.

About 200 national fellowships are given each year in chemistry.

A graduate of Canyon High School and West Texas State College, McCormick is married to the former Theresa Mickey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Mickey of Canyon.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Several Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District cooperators pitted rangeland early this year and the recent rains are proving it to be an effective and timely practice. Those questioned on the results say that the soil intake of water was greatly increased and that there was no runoff up to the heavy rain of June 9.

Pitting is applicable on deteriorated range where forage production is not limited by woody plants, and on fine and medium textured soils with few stones near the surface and on slopes up to 5 percent. The treated area should be a significant enough portion of a grazing unit to justify the kind of grazing management which may be required to permit the vegetation to take advantage of the treatment.

Pitting may be done with disk or rotary pitter which will give shallow oblong pits or deep cylindrical pits respectively. The pits or basins should be of suitable capacity and distribution to retain water from rainfall or snow melt. Spacing of pits should be 3 to 4 feet with a depth of 4 to 5 inches for basin pits and 9 to 10 inches for cylindrical pits.

Following pitting the area will normally need to be deferred through the first growing season or grazing limited so that development of a permanent grass stand will not be retarded. This will insure the maintenance of excavations with a water storage capacity sufficient to promote continued range improvement.

Most of the pitting done recently has been with a rotary pitter. This type of machine is available for rent from the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District.

Some of those who pitted range in this manner were R. B. Turner, on the Friemel Estate; Raymond Tucek, and the Palo Duro Club.

White, Sykes Wed In Arkansas Rites

In a candlelight ceremony at 8 p.m. May 27, Miss Mary White of Garland became the bride of Jim Sykes, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Sykes of Siloam Springs, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Sykes formerly lived in Happy. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley White of Monroe, La.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Clifford Palmer in the home of the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Sykes, who are former residents of Canyon. The large mantle, decorated with an arrangement of white gladioli, fern, and pom pom mums, flanked by tall white candles, formed the background for the ceremony.

Miss Pat Sykes, a sister of the bridegroom, and Delbert Allen, Jr., attended the couple.

The bride wore a white dress, fashioned with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a clip hat in a soft blue shade to match other accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and from which fell white tulle streamers entwined with pale blue ribbon.

Miss Sykes was attired in a blue sheath style dress with white accessories and pinned a white carnation corsage at her shoulder.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Eureka Springs, after which they will be at home at 120 West Avenue D, in Garland. Mr. Sykes is a senior test technician with Varo Electronics at Dallas.

Mrs. Prichard Elected Garden Club President

Mrs. A. H. Prichard has been elected president of the Canyon Garden Club for the coming year. Other new officers are Mrs. Bill Downing, first vice president, and Mrs. Alfred Bellah, secretary-treasurer.

The club's July meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Jeannette Robbins.
